

2008 A League Standings

Team	Won	Lost	PF	PA	Points
Standings Overall by Division
AFC
A-Panthers	8	0	214	44	12
A-Steelers	5	3	158	104	8
A-Packers	5	3	122	92	6
A-Jaguars	4	4	84	112	6
A-Vikings	1	7	62	218	1
NFC
A-Falcons	7	1	184	82	12
A-Cowboys	7	2	152	62	11
A-Redskins	5	4	164	72	7
A-Bucs	2	6	46	110	4
A-Giants	1	7	44	150	2
A-Raiders	0	8	24	208	0

* Jaguars were ranked higher with win against the Packers

* A-League Only Point System:

Since A-League expanded rapidly the playoff determination will be the following:

1) Based on Points within the division. Two (2) Division points are earned for each game won within the Division; One

(1) Division point is earned for each win outside the Division.

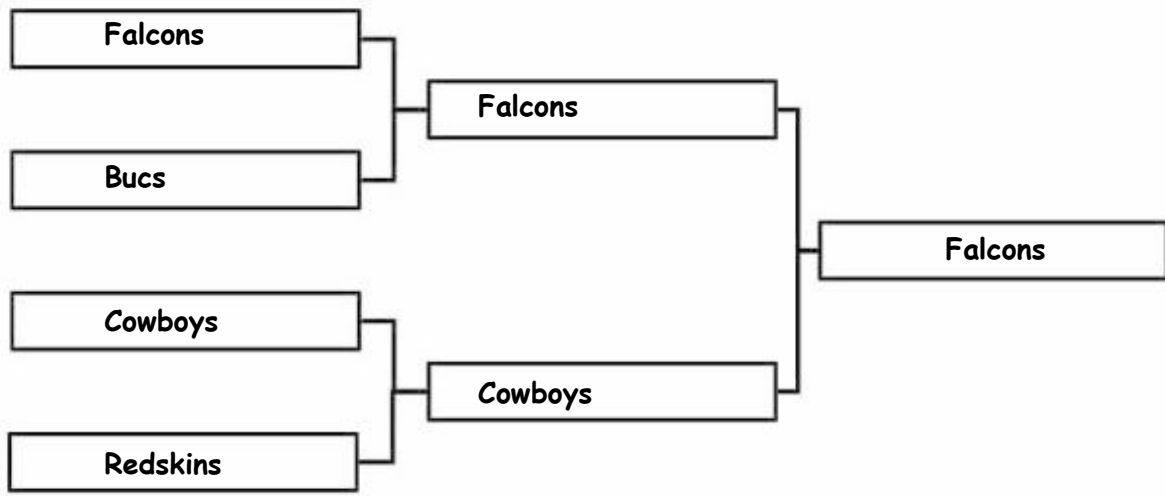

2) The Cowboys and the Redskins both are scheduled to play 9 games, whereas all other teams are scheduled to play

8 games, because of the number of teams and 8 weeks of regular season play. Therefore these two teams will not have their non-divisional games in week #2 count toward league points. This will even out the league point scoring in the league.

3) If a tie game is determined then each team will receive 1/2 of the points as determined in the above rule.

4) Further tie-breaker procedures will be determined by rule 12.C.2-4

2008 A League Playoffs

Championship won by: Panthers

